

Material Waste Reduction

Do you know how much your company is losing each year as a result of material waste?

According to industry research, this could be as much as 7.3%* of your total turnover. FIRA are offering a first steps programme to help you to gain a new perspective of material waste in your business and open your eyes to potential improvements.

What does the programme offer?

The first steps programme leads the way for sustainable results to be achieved in the future by helping you to see the improvements that can be made to your business.

Using a focused and structured approach, our Master Engineers will work with you to identify the types and quantities of raw materials purchased and determine how efficiently your material is being converted into finished goods.

Not only will our Engineers bring with them extensive knowledge and experience from the furniture industry, but they will also provide working data analysis spreadsheets and graphs to ensure that your material utilisation is sustained.

“Through the use of proven techniques and a hands on approach, ukfirst have helped us deliver real measurable results.” Isabel Barrell, Wesley Barrell

The Next Step:

To book a workshop at your company or for further information please contact FIRA on 01438 777700 or email info@fira.co.uk

Why is it for me?

The programme will provide you with the first steps to success in tackling your material waste issues by;

- Providing you with a clear view of material utilisation in your business
- Identifying material utilisation improvements in your processes and products
- Developing data driven management and decision making techniques
